Apple

Its red colour shows the quality of this fruit. A sufficient amount of 30-50 leaves per fruit is stored in the fruit.

It has a very rich vitamin C content.

Apple trees are hard-built trees that grow in abundant sunlight and have oval-shaped leaves with serrated curves, resistant to severe conditions such as the snow cold of the winter season.

Karyađdı

Pear

"Karyađdı" is a kind of pear grown in Korkuteli. It is usually harvested in Autumn (late September or early October)

Ankara pear, also known as Karyađdı Pear, is grown in only two regions in our country, ubuk district of Ankara and Korkuteli district of Antalya province. The soils of Korkuteli district are rich in potassium. On Korkuteli lands and climatic conditions, the fruit flesh is not sandy, the leather is thicker than other regions, and high quality and abundant production is made in accordance with the climate and environmental conditions. We have over 80 years old Ankara pear trees and new generation dwarf trees in our gardens.

Pears contain high levels of antioxidants such as vitamin C and vitamin K.

A person with long brown hair, wearing a light blue long-sleeved shirt, blue jeans, and a bright yellow backpack, stands on a dirt path in a cherry blossom orchard. Their arms are raised in the air. The orchard is filled with rows of cherry trees in full bloom, with vibrant pink blossoms. In the background, there are rolling hills and a small white building. The overall scene is bright and scenic.
